No Doubt of the Sinking of the S Northman and Eight Men. Oswego, N. Y., April 24.-There can no longer be any doubt that another must be added to the roll of casualties that mark the history of inland navigation. During the gale of Thursday, April 15, a large schooner was re-ported as being seen to founder in Lake Ontario, off Port Credit, Ont. Such stories are so often put in circulation along the lakes that little attention was paid to it. On the following Sunday the schooner Bently, arriving at this port from Toronto, reported passing through a quantity of wreckage near the pince mentioned, and it was ascertained that the schooner Northman, of Hamilton, Ont. bound for Kingston, was overdue. Last Wednesday some of the wreckage was secured, and on Thursday the Northman's small boat and part of her cabin were found afloat, which leaves no doubt of her loss. The oars were lashed to the thwarts, showing that she must have gone down suddenly and the crew had no chance to escape. The Northman was owned by Mr. Robertson of Hamilton, and sailed by Capt. Frank Carvette of Quebec, and a crew of eight men, who were from Lower Canada, and their names are unknown. She was five years old, of 325 tons burden, had 23,400 bushels of wheat, was valued at $16,000, and insured for $6,000. off Port Credit, Ont. Such stories are so often

An Earthquake Shock Felt at Sen WASHINGTON, April 27.—Commander Harting ton of the Alert reports that the shock of earthqua was distinctly fell on board of that vessel, creating the impression that she had drauged her anchor in a squall. The wind, however, was not violent and the water was the island rocks and sheals south of Yeddo Bar.
